IGLOO SECURITY was established in November 1999 with the goal of becoming a global information security company. IGLOO SECURITY pioneered the early information protection market and led the domestic integrated security management market, and has since maintained the efforts of applying key technologies for accelerating innovation and reinforcing security. The company has long prepared for building integrated security systems for a timely response to security risks that are becoming ever more sophisticated, based on long experience and rich competency in integrated security management and Managed Security Services service areas. It has introduced various security solutions and services in diverse areas from network to end point through consistent investment in R&D – e.g. integrated security management solution ‘Spider TM’ which resolves the complexity of security management by integrally saving, searching and analysing diverse security data collected from heterogeneous information protection systems; the ‘LIGER-1’, fusion Managed Security Services solution which organically combines information security, physical security and industrial security; as well as ‘HUSKY’, the Managed Security Services service based on experience and judgment of experienced security experts and systematic service methodology.
